

March 22, 2010

Starbucks wants shareholders to vote "no" on activist group's recycling proposal

The environmental activists at the As You Sow Foundation in San Francisco are pressing Starbucks to take more steps to recycle its bottles, cans and cups and to increase the recycled content in containers. Shareholders will vote on the group's proposal at Wednesday's annual meeting. Starbucks wants them to turn it down, because it "wants to focus on things we have the ability to control."