Re: Withdrawal of 2018 Methane Reporting Shareholder Proposal

Dear Karen,

As You Sow and Arjuna Capital appreciate the constructive dialogue we have had regarding methane disclosures at Dominion Energy and the methane proposal we filed with the company this year on behalf of the Park Foundation and the Paul R. Rudd Revocable Trust. The proposal outlines growing shareholder concern about methane emissions, including from storage operations, and the growing associated climate and regulatory risks. In order to make informed investment decisions, investors require specific, quantitative disclosures about the Company's methane emissions and the actions the company is taking to address those emissions.

Following Dominion's recently improved disclosures regarding methane management at its storage operations and the release of methane emission intensity information as well as a good faith commitment to continue discussions on methane management, reporting, and target-setting, As You Sow hereby withdraws its shareholder proposal.
